

Princeton University Sailing Team

A Letter From the Commodore

Henry Pease '16

Dear Alumni and Friends of Princeton Sailing,

Overall, this past spring has been excellent for the Princeton Sailing Team. Our Florida trip in January kickstarted our season with a resounding success both on and off the water. Despite a few rainy days, warm weather and good wind kept us on the water every morning and afternoon, making great improvements in everything from boat handling to team racing tactics.

Henry Pease '16

With many of our seniors busy with thesis work and our small junior class, I could not be happier with how our freshmen have developed into an integral part of the team. Thanks to the efforts of past recruitment chair Layton Hopper '16 and current chair Malcolm Steinberg '17, both of whom emphasized quality over quantity, the several freshmen and sophomores who joined us in the fall continue to impress me with their dedication, sailing ability, and enthusiasm for the team. They have been consistently racing in all our regattas, and it's very exciting to see how rapidly their skills improve as they develop into better and better sailors.

Although our practices this spring were delayed due to repairs on our motor boat, it has been awesome to be back on the water with fully functional equipment. As we continue our search for a new coach, practice captain Sydney Mandelbaum '17 has done a wonderful job keeping the team on course by organizing drills and practice races. We are still looking for the right person to take over coaching responsibilities and help the team develop further with technical ability, so if you know someone who is qualified and may be interested, please feel free to pass along our ad (page 12).

One of our highlights this spring was the Hamilton Burr Regatta cocktail party in NYC. The evening was a huge success, and I was very proud to see Princeton's boat fill up first, resulting in Columbia covering the next round. Please see page 7 for more info about the Hamilton Burr Regatta.

We would like to thank everyone who was able to come out for our last event of the year, the Alumni BBQ during Reunions. This year we say goodbye to a truly amazing group of seniors, but the team is moving forward and I'm excited to see what the fall brings.

Let's go sailing!

Class of 2014– Featured Graduates

ASHLEY BARCLIFT - ANDREW SUN '16

The first time I really got to know Ashley was during my first Florida trip this past intercession. I had already known her for her friendliness and humor, but in Florida, I got to know her a lot better. From sailing on the water to team yoga on the floor of the apartment, Ashley was always there to unite us as a team and bring us together.

On the water, Ashley is a skilled crew and known for her ability to communicate in the boat. However, one of the things that Ashley is most known for on the team is her role as Social Chair. For two years, Ashley has planned all the events that bring our team together, from Goodfriends to the great memories we have made together as a team on the weekends. It is truly remarkable that despite her busy schedule, she has made our team closer by planning these events for two years. I know that without her, I would not have felt as welcome to the Princeton Sailing community.

I personally will miss Ashley very much. Her ability to look out for the whole team and bring us together as a whole was unmatched. I hope the best for you in the future!

LUCY COBBS - LAYTON HOPPER '16

Lucy Cobbs has been an integral part of Princeton Sailing for the last four years and we are all sad to see her go. The team was lucky to have Lucy- she came to Princeton as a well-trained skipper with great racing strategy. But perhaps more importantly, she was willing to share her skills with her teammates. Lucy has been a patient and effective mentor for many of the team's more novice members. She is a hard worker and always goes above and beyond in practice, regattas, and team events. Lucy's quick laugh and easygoing disposition have made her a favorite on the team (and the target of many ridiculous nicknames). The team will very much miss seeing Lucy's smiling, sunburnt face on the water next year.

SAMANTHA GEBB - AMARA PLAZA-JENNINGS '15

Sam Gebb is an important member of the sailing team and she will be greatly missed next year. There is no one on our team who is more knowledgeable about sailing. This has been especially helpful this year since we did not have a coach. Sam stepped in and helped fill that role during our trip to Florida by leading chalk talks, organizing practice drills, and helping teach some of our newer skippers. We all learned a lot from her and the trip would not have been as successful without her. Sam has been a leader on the team throughout her four years here. My first year on the team, Sam was our regatta captain. She made it seem so easy, and I was surprised when I learned how much work the job entailed. She has since helped train the new regatta captains.

We will miss Sam's dedication and love for the team next year. I have looked up to her since my freshman year. I don't know that I will ever be as skilled of a sailor, but I hope that I can be as good of a friend as Sam is. We will miss your passion for sailing, your fun personality, and your amazing dance moves next year, Sam. Good luck and come back to visit!

GRETA HAYES - BENNETT ALVARO '16

Saying goodbye to our seniors is going to be one of the hardest things this team has gone through. With their dedication this year to the team, we've all learned from them what the bond that we share truly means. Greta Hayes was certainly one of the driving forces. Things will be different without Greta next year, but she will also be a spirit of the team for years to come. From her extensive knowledge of sailing to her hilarious sense of humor and energy, Greta has left her mark. When I joined this team as a sophomore this past fall, knowing hardly anybody on the team, Greta made her impression. I was amazed by how sincere, fun, and helpful she was to a simple sailing frosh, but I now know that that same character has been ingrained in the entire team. Saying goodbye to Greta will be hard, without a doubt, but this team, and especially myself, could not be any happier to have gotten to know such a wonderful sailor and individual.

SAM HEFFERNAN - ANDREW GRASSO '15

For four years, Sam has been one of everyone's favorite teammates. Although he joined the team without racing experience, he learned quickly and became a capable crew. On and off the water, his contagious enthusiasm made practices, regattas, and social events a great time. Sam also contributed his exceptional organizational skills to the team, taking charge on planning our Florida trip his sophomore year. As team secretary, he designed the template that is still in use for this very newsletter. Over the summers, Sam also helped the team move into sailing larger boats, whether it was a stint aboard an 80' maxi, weekend racing on an IOD, or the team's fall entry into the Larchmont IOR. The team will be a very different place without Sam's talent, enthusiasm, and commitment will be missed greatly next year. But in the words of Dr. Seuss, "don't cry because it's over, smile because it happened." Needless to say, the whole team is smiling because Sam happened.

TANNER JOHNSON - ANDREW GRASSO '15

There is nobody on this team, and probably nobody at Princeton, who is easier to get along with than Tanner. He is a ton of fun to be around, and can turn even the coldest, rainiest day on the water into a good time. Tanner has also managed to find time for the team despite a staggering number of other commitments on campus. I'm not sure how he does it, but I suspect he doesn't actually sleep. We also all appreciated Tanner's decision to step up as a skipper during his senior year when we were short on skippers for our trip to Florida. His willingness to step out of his comfort zone made the trip possible, and his presence in Florida helped make the trip the great experience that it was. He even found time to teach us all a little dancing. Tanner, you will be missed next year. Best of luck in DC.

ALEX MACLEOD - ADRIJA NAVARRO '15

When I think of Alex, I immediately think of her positivity, skill, dedication, and enthusiasm. Alex has always been a strong presence on this team. On the water she is a confident and skilled crew. Whenever she's on a boat she works hard to push both herself and her skipper. She is consistently focused and goes above and beyond her job as a crew. Whenever I sail with Alex I always feel comfortable on the boat and focused on improving our boat handling skills and racing strategies. I can count on her to provide tactical advice and to keep a leveled head in any intense racing situations. Off the water Alex is just as dedicated to the team. She has been there for us every boat moving trailering our boats on her truck. She always makes an effort to come to team events, such as fundraising opportunities and team dinners. I don't know what we're going to do without her next year.

Since I arrived on the team as a freshman Alex has always been a great friend to me. When we first met we connected instantly and since then we've stayed close friends. She has been a role model to me in many ways. I can always count on her for support and advice. She is adventurous and spirited. She genuinely cares about her friends and about our team. She has made a strong impact on me and every other member of this team. We will all miss her passion and presence.

MARGARET MEYER - SUMMER SHAW '16

Margaret is one of the most genuine and dedicated sailors on the team, and we are all so sad to see her leave next year. On the water, Margaret is always in high demand as crew because she is both focused and fun. She has always been willing to step up when the team is in need, despite a busy academic schedule and many extracurricular activities. I really admire Margaret for her commitment to the team. Furthermore, Margaret has played a huge role in bonding the team together. She always brings cheer and a great sense of humor to sailing gatherings. Personally, when I was a freshman and new to the team, Margaret immediately made me feel welcome and encouraged me to participate more in team activities. Beyond sailing, she has always been happy to share her wisdom with me and to help me navigate the tricky waters of Princeton. We will all miss Margaret so much next year, and the team will not be the same without her. I wish her the best in all her future adventures!

AMANDA MITCHELL - SYDNEY MANDELBAUM '17

Amanda has had a strong presence on the team. Her cheery, happy attitude always results in high spirits and fun times. Amanda's enthusiasm and sense of humor have been incredible to have around. She has the ability to make everyone feel welcome. With her around, it is, metaphorically and literally, smooth sailing. Amanda always has a lighthearted joke and a smile under any and all circumstances. My second regatta of the year was MAISA women's. The weather conditions were extremely difficult, and Amanda hadn't sailed in a year, but with no one else available, she offered to step up and attend for the weekend. This is very characteristic of Amanda's time on the team. Never asked, she always volunteers to sail, regardless of how much work she has due the following week or how far away the regatta is. Not only is Amanda consistently one of the first to volunteer, but she also makes even the most difficult occasions enjoyable. Amanda has brought a boundless enthusiasm and optimism to the team. Amanda you one of the most welcoming, friendly people I know. Best of luck next year, and we'll miss you a lot!

THOMAS SENEICAL - ALEC REGULSKI '16

Thomas has risen to become a key member of the team and a top-notch sailor over the four years that he has been a member of the team. Serving as gear chair his sophomore year and continuing to be an active presence, Thomas has proved time and time again his loyalty to this team. Acting as a leader and role model to the frosh, his presence at meetings, practices, and especially Florida sets the standard for how upperclassman should mentor the new members of the team. His commitment to the team can only be rivaled by his combined love of Ferragamo shoes and Hilary Clinton.

Speaking towards his sailing abilities, Thomas proves to be invaluable, especially with our large number of lightweight skippers. When the wind is rippin', you know you want Thomas in your boat. Given his tall frame, Thomas makes for an unlikely expert crew, but his ability and agility speak for itself. As former commodore Adrija Navarro said, "Most crews aren't as big as he is, and need more space to navigate the boat so they are usually skippers, but he's actually really good at crewing and manages to be very agile in his position." Thomas's quick wit and hilarious stories will surely be missed when he graduates this year. Good luck, Thomas, in your adventures beyond Princeton!

ELIZABETH SMITH - LAYTON HOPPER '16

Princeton Sailing has benefitted tremendously from having Elizabeth Smith as a four-year member. Elizabeth devoted herself to the team early on in her undergraduate career. She often stepped up to attend extras practice as a freshman and in her sophomore year, Elizabeth undertook the position of practice captain. It is no secret that practice captain is one of the most difficult, time intensive officer positions, but Elizabeth handled it with dedication and attention to detail. She coordinated every practice and even developed an angry alter-ego (named Beatrice) that came out when the team needed to be disciplined or motivated. Elizabeth's friendly attitude and compassion have made her a role model for many of the team's younger members, and she will be irreplaceable.

ANDREW WERNER - HENRY PEASE '16

Over the past four years, Andrew Werner has embodied the spirit of Princeton Sailing. Even beyond his term as Commodore in 2012, he always worked for the good of the team. A perfect mix of relaxed attitude and commanding leadership, "Werner" never hesitated to help out younger and less experienced sailors.

With an enthusiasm that more than made up for any gear he was missing, Werner seemed to rarely miss a regatta. He always welcomed the team to stay in his family house for any regatta in Virginia, making it one of our favorite places to travel. Additionally, as an officer of the Terrace F. Club, he frequently offered space in the club for Sailing events, making them all the more memorable.

Easy going and highly committed, Werner has been a huge mentor that has really poured himself into the team. He served as a key role model to every class of younger sailors, and no doubt left a mark that will stay with the team for years to come. We'll miss you Werner, and good luck in San Francisco!

SEASON HIGHLIGHTS - MAGGIE O'ROURKE '16

Our spring season began this intersession when we took our annual trip to Sarasota, Florida. Despite some rainy weather, we were able to make the most of our time on the water. Early in the week we saw light winds, allowing the team to focus time and effort on roll tacks. This also offered many crews the opportunity to try their hand at skippering. Later in the week, we were met with some heavier winds, giving the team some practice controlling the boats in different conditions. Thanks to Gabriela Leichnitz '16 and Layton Hopper '16 for organizing the trip.

We started the season with the ODU Spring Open on March 1st where we were met with light winds on Saturday and very volatile gusts on Sunday. We were all excited to get back out on the water, as it was our first time out sailing since the trip to Florida, but recognized the room we had for improvement. Our next regatta was the CNU Women's Regatta which took place on March 15th down in Virginia. Skipper Samantha Gebb '14 and crew Lucy Hayes '16 had a number of firsts in these races, bringing the team to a stellar third place. There was great weather for this regatta and the whole team performed well despite some minor boat malfunctions throughout the regatta.

On March 19th we were back at Christopher Newport University for CJ's regatta. There were nice strong winds, so despite the rainy weather, the fleet was able to complete all of their 14 races in one day. While we may not have performed as well as we hoped for, this regatta provided the team with good practice in heavier winds. The next weekend, April 12th, we had two simultaneous regattas. One group went to Yale for the Owen, Mosbacher, and Knapp Trophies Regatta (Old Guard Regatta). There was good wind and we were able to stay competitive with the one other club team, Columbia, throughout the entire regatta only to lose on a tie-breaker. The other group of sailors competed in the South Spring Qualifier where they met a mix of very light winds and strong currents on both days, making the races particularly challenging. We finished off the season with the Admiral's Cup at Kings Point on April 19th where the team sailed 420s, FJs, and a laser. Both days were met with steady wind and fierce competition.

This season we struggled with getting out to regular practices because there were a number of mechanical issues with our motorboat. It was under repair for much of the season, making it unsafe to hold practices. Despite these early difficulties, we eagerly got back on the water in the second half of the season. With the motorboat fully repaired, we look forward to a full practice schedule in the fall!

We will miss all of the seniors who made up such a large part of this team both on and off the water very much, but are all excited for our upcoming fall season!

HAMILTON BURR COCKTAIL PARTY - ANDREW GRASSO '14

On April 24th, 31 alums and undergrads from Princeton and Columbia converged on the Maritime Hotel in NYC for the first annual Hamilton-Burr Spring Cocktail Party. A great time was had by all, and we especially enjoyed getting to grab a drink with Columbia sailors who we knew only through brief interactions on the water. The event was held to kick-start fundraising and recruitment for the Hamilton-Burr Regatta to be held this fall. Each team raced to fill their boat with ten sailors, each of whom made a donation in order to compete. Although both teams managed ten sailors, it was Princeton who edged out the victory, leaving Columbia's team to buy the next round. We appreciate the support of all who attended, and we cannot wait to see as many of you as can attend for the Hamilton-Burr Regatta this fall. For more information on the regatta, and to stay up to date on details, please visit hamiltonburr.com.

SPRING AWARDS - MAGGIE O'ROURKE '16

Following our spring season, the Princeton University Sailing Team had our annual barbecue during Reunions at the Lockwood-Pirie '27 Boathouse. Best Skipper, Best Crew, Best Senior, and Best Freshman are awarded based on anonymous elections by the entire team to the students who are spectacular members of the team. They embody the skill and spirit of the whole team.

Sydney Mandelbaum '17 was awarded Best Freshman this year. She is our current Practice Captain and came to Princeton with a lot of experience she has been enthusiastic to share with everyone. We really appreciate all of her dedication to the team so early on.

Best Skipper was awarded to Samantha Gebb '14 who has been a prominent member of the team since freshman year. She is a terrific skipper who has repeatedly strengthened the team by teaching the younger students.

Finally, Best Crew was awarded to Greta Hayes '14 who has always been a strong member of the team who strengthens whoever she is sailing with through her experience and competitive attitude.

We will miss our seniors next year who are so beloved by the entire team for helping to make it what it is today!

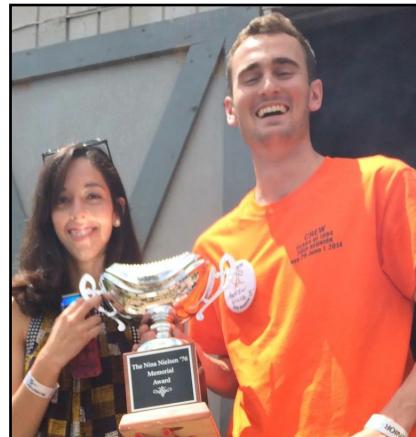

NINA NIELSEN '76 MEMORIAL TROPHY

Nina A. Nielsen '76 was a very important part of the Princeton University Sailing Team. Nina raced very competitively her entire time at Princeton and continued to race her Etchells 22 internationally throughout her life. When she passed away on January 15, 2011, her friends and family established this memorial fund in her name which assists the team in many expenses and presents an annual trophy in her name. This award was established by her roommate Lynne Rosenberg Eramo '76 and is awarded each year to the male and female sailors who best exemplify her "loyalty, humor, and team spirit".

This spring the Nina A. Nielsen Memorial Trophy was presented at our spring awards ceremony. The team as a whole anonymously elected the recipients based on Nina's qualities. Amara Plaza-Jennings '15 and Andrew Grasso '15 received this award for recognition of their dedication to the team.

Amara Plaza-Jennings '15 has been a critical member of the team and she is always willing to step up for the team, to go above and beyond in practices and at regattas. Andrew Grasso '15 was the Secretary of the team his freshman year and Practice Captain his sophomore year. He is a very talented skipper who is always very enthusiastic about sailing.

The team extends our deepest gratitude to those who made this memorial fund possible. Thanks to your generosity, Nina's legacy will live on with the team for many years to come.

Amara Plaza-Jennings '15 and Andrew Grasso '15 accept the trophy with a tribute to Nina's sportsmanship

NINA NIELSEN '76 MEMORIAL FUND

Nina Nielsen '76

The Nina Nielsen '76 Memorial Fund was established in 2011 by Nina's sister Pia Wagner and her Princeton roommate Lynne Rosenberg Eramo '76. The Fund was created to honor Nina and her dedication to the sport. It is used to help the team with day-to-day expenses, as well as to present an annual trophy in Nina's name.

Thanks to an incredible show of support from our alumni and Nina's friends, the fund is now a sustainable endowment that will continue to help the team and preserve Nina's memory for years to come. Thanks to all who made this fund possible.

FLORIDA - LUCY HAYES '16

This year during Intersession Break in January, the team headed to Sarasota, Florida for our winter training trip. As this was my first trip to Florida, I did not know what I was getting myself into when leaving campus on a rainy Saturday morning. However, the trip exceeded my expectations which were already inflated from other team member's countless stories from trips past. Despite the slight chill, the weather was great for sailing and training new sailors. We were able to take 12 boats out every day and run drills that ranged from basic at the beginning to increasingly complex after spending all day out on the water. Thanks to our large fleet we were fortunate enough to hold team races at the end of the week in great wind, which was an awesome opportunity, especially for the new sailors who had not team raced before.

A great day to sail in Sarasota located in an area in which dolphins are native. This left me extremely distracted for the rest of the drill. Beyond the drills and gear-stenciled van rides to and from the travel site, Florida is also an incredible opportunity for the team to spend a concentrated amount of time with each other. We get to know new members and strengthen old relationships, and I am very grateful to be a benefactor of all of the hard planning that went into it. I am looking forward to going back next year!

A highlight of the trip for me was during a box drill when a pod of dolphins swam right beneath the hull. I was stunned at the sight, as I am a biology major and not

ALUMNI NOTES

Amelia Brown '99 sends word that she and her husband Graham Elliott '01 will be expecting their second baby this summer. They continue to live in Brisbane, Queensland, Australia with their 16 month old daughter Amy Summer and get out sailing once in a while.

SENIOR DINNER - GABIRELA LIECHNITZ '16

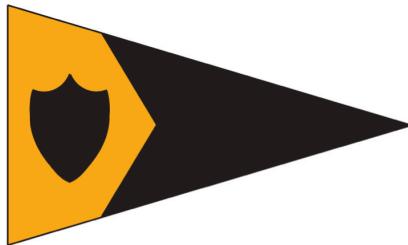

As one of our last events of the year, we gathered at Taste of Mexico to continue the sailing tradition of honoring the seniors with a memorable team dinner. Over enchiladas and guacamole, the team spent the night appreciating all of our seniors and cherishing the end of our time all together.

We have twelve members of the Class of 2014, and we were all reminded of the immense impact they have made on the team when the underclassmen stood up to give speeches for each senior. The speeches brought up fun times, silly listserv emails, and all of our incredibly overused and predictable jokes. The humorous tone of the evening helped alleviate the sadness of their impending graduation, although the thoughtful speeches still brought Amanda Mitchell '14 to tears.

Five of our seniors out sailing

With such a large part of our team leaving, it is obvious how different the team will be next year and how much each and every senior will be missed. They have welcomed an incredible number of new members into their community this year, guiding us all with patience and warmth, and they have taught us all what it means to be part of such an incredible team. Their class is defined by dedication to both sailing and each other, and their commitment has permanently altered the team. 2014 - you will be missed by new members and old, and thank you for the good times.

THE FRIENDS OF PRINCETON SAILING

The Friends of Princeton Sailing receives tremendous support from many of our alumni sailors, friends, team parents, and grandparents. Thanks to all who have made contributions to the team during fiscal year 2014 (July 1, 2013 - June 30, 2014), as reflected below. As a club sport at Princeton, the team thrives on the funding, housing advice, and time donated by so many outside the university, and, as such, each contribution at any level is welcome. Thank you again to the alumni, friends, parents, and others -- the team depends on you for its successes.

The following list acknowledges the thoughtfulness of our recent donors as of 6/30/2014; if you do not see your name listed below, please understand that we receive donor updates at certain times of the year and might not have been informed of your gift at press time. We will plan to list you in the next newsletter. Please let Greg Davis '00, President, or Anoop Gupta '01, Treasurer, know if you have not received a tax acknowledgement from the University.

CONTINUED OPPORTUNITIES TO SUPPORT THE SAILING ENDOWMENT AND NAME AN FJ!

On January 31, 2009, Emily Carville '98 made an announcement at the Friends of Princeton Sailing reception in Princeton that an anonymous donor had granted funds to purchase a new fleet of 12 FJs for the sailing team in time for the Spring 2009 season.

In support of this generous gift, the donor hopes to help the team capitalize on this unique moment in time by raising additional funds to support the sailing program in perpetuity. With a gift of $10,000, you - or your group - can name a boat for the life of that boat, with the gift helping to create a newly formed endowment to support the highest priority needs of the Princeton Sailing program.

At this point in time, five boats have already been named. Should you be interested in helping to support the program over the long term and name one of the nine remaining boats, please contact either:

Greg Davis, President, Friends of Princeton Sailing, by email at gwdavis@alumni.princeton.edu or

Diana D. Leighton, Assistant Director, Leadership Gifts/Athletics Friends Groups, ddreyfus@princeton.edu

REQUEST FOR REGATTA HOUSING

The team has been fortunate over the years to benefit from the warm beds—not to mention the advice, on-site coaching, and financial support—of our generous alumni. We travel every weekend September through November and March through May to the following sites: Annapolis, Baltimore, Boston, Brown, Cornell, Georgetown, New London, CT, Old Dominion, St. Mary's, and Washington College. If you live close to any of these venues and would be willing to host a few sailors for a weekend, please contact Regatta Captain Lucy Hayes '16 by sending an email to her at lahayes@princeton.edu. Thanks to the Banyards, Fridells, Werners, & Gambers for hosting us this spring!
